

The McGEE PROJECT

The McGee Project offers young black creatives a platform to discuss their experiences and those of southern black girls and young women, in particular, on The Lighthouse's blog. Through this project, creatives will use writing, photography, videography and other mediums to underscore the organization's mission, further elevating the voices of black girls and young women on matters ranging from reproductive justice to music, economic justice to pop culture.

Our mission is to be a revelatory, unflickering light for Black girls and young women in the southern United States through safe spaces and focused programming.

CRITERIA FOR PARTICIPATION:

- Content or expert area in her field (bearing in mind we're always the experts in our own lives)
- Willingness to research and/or learn to research for the benefit of the work of The Lighthouse and those it impacts
- Ideally between the ages of 14 and 35
- For those interested in becoming a staff writer, send an email of inquiry to contributors@loveblackgirls.org with at least two writing samples and the topic(s) of interest

REQUIREMENTS FOR PARTICIPATION:

- Attend a one-day creative retreat, based on your contribution
- Research and the production of materials usable by The Lighthouse | Black Girl Projects
- Updates/check-ins with Lighthouse staff

BENEFITS OF PARTICIPATION:

- Honoraria, based on contribution
- Archived work
- Published work The Lighthouse | Black Girl Projects annual journal
- Expanded professional network

www.loveblackgirls.org

 info@loveblackgirls.org

 769.257.0977

 facebook.com/luvblkgrls

 @luvblkgrls

 @luvblkgrls

